
It doesn't mean that I hate losing
and that I'll do anything to win.

But I love winning and being told by someone that I'm good at something So I'm the kind of person who does her best all the time whatever the situation is or whenever it is.

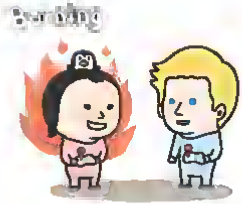
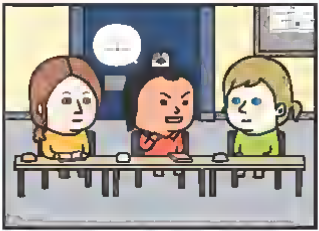
A Competitive Woman



To be honest,
I'm quite a competitive woman.



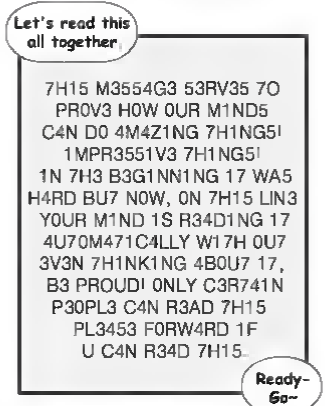
I was embarrassed...

Then one morning class.

-How to play this game-

Look at the words and say the colour not the word

We did a brain exercise activity before we started to study



Even when we do a kind of small activity like this,..

But...

... before the real game started, the teacher kept on showing us the instructions.

Fast
prove how our minds-to prove ummm
to prove ho-

I thought it wanted us to say 'the colour'.
So I shouted it loudly and confidently.

Green	Orange	Purple
Pink	Blue	Red
Yellow	Green	Black
Red	Blue	Pink
Black	Purple	Orange

At the same time,
the real question appeared on the white board.

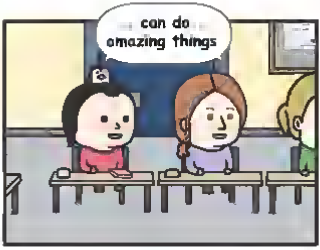
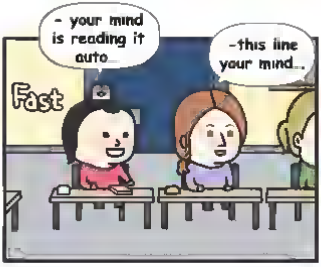
Well, let's not show off too much and match my speed with the other people.
how our minds..
how our minds .

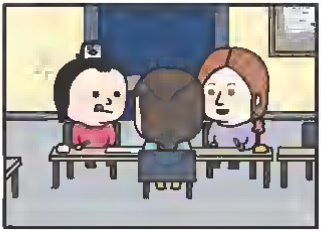


can do amazing things

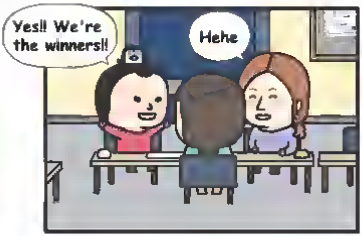
[A bit later]



... I can't hald myself to show that I can do it really fast.

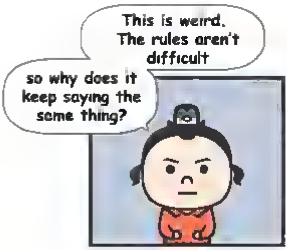


Or when we ploy o team game,...



... I need to do my best so our team con win.

I can notice how competitive I am during my college classes.



So my competitive brain started to work.
